Dear Valued Customer,

I would like to take a brief moment to introduce myself to you. As many of you may now know, I have recently been appointed the new President and Chief Operating Officer of Lionel LLC. I began working in the model train industry over forty years ago in a hobby shop. I chose employment at a hobby shop with the intention to earn a little extra cash to support my hobbies. Well, here I am now and truly enjoying every minute of it.

During one of my first days at Lionel, we created a new mission statement; one that we believe reflects those values of the past and incorporates a vision for the future. I'd like to present it here, as it represents our commitment to you, our friends and loyal customers.

Kind regards,

Richard N. Maddox

MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission is to develop, manufacture, market and service
the best electric toy trains and accessories in the world
within a competitive environment.

- Lead the toy train industry with innovative engineering, flawless manufacturing and superior customer service
- Employ the best people and inspire teamwork and strong communications in an atmosphere of teamwork, trust, openness and innovation
- Expose children to the magic of Lionel trains and sprout interest in the toy train hobby
- Work closely with our dealer network and share with them some of the decision making processes for future Lionel products
- Keep the magic of the Lionel tradition living for another 100 years

BIG BOY

Lionel's Big Boy. The Pride of Your Fleet!

It's the locomotive you've always wanted Lionel to build.

The Union Pacific Big Boy, all one million pounds of it, ruled the Wahsatch Mountains for nearly twenty years. This mighty leviathan thrashed through the mountains day after day, year after year, pulling as much as 4,200 tons behind its massive bulk. The inspiration for Lionel's reproduction, the 4006, had more service miles than any of the other Big Boy locomotives when it was retired in 1961. You can see it on display today at the Museum of Transportation in St. Louis, Missouri. Your wait is over – enjoy the powerful and majestic Lionel Big Boy on your layout today.

DASH 9

An Offer You Cannot Refuse!

Perhaps the most recognizable of all of General Electric's modern diesels is the Dash 9-44CW. With such modern technologies as electronic fuel injection, split cooling and HiAd™-low weight traction trucks, these engines are as advanced as they are powerful. Weighing in at more than 390,000 pounds, with fuel tanks large enough to carry 5,000 gallons of fuel, these locomotives generate 4,400 horsepower.

We have meticulously replicated this impressive locomotive to rule your railroad empire with our newly tooled Dash 9-44CW. From the largest details, like its accurate scale body, to the smallest, such as the diamond crosshatched pattern molded into the deck, this is one engine you will not want to be without. Don't overlook the prototypical warning and information signs printed on the sides and roof, or the wonderful fan driven smoke unit. There's so much detail packed into its scale frame that you'll discover something new every time you look at it.

To top it all off, for a limited time, when you purchase a Command version of any Dash 9 locomotive, Lionel will offer you a free TrainMaster Cab-1 Remote, TrainMaster Command base and video on how to set up and run Command Control. That's a value of over $155 - FREE! If you've never tried Command Control, this is the opportunity of a lifetime. It's never been easier or less expensive to give Command Control a try than with this special offer. Once you've tried it, we think you'll agree that TrainMaster offers more control, more features and more fun than any system on the market. It's not even close.

Features common to both Command Control and Traditional Versions:

- Dual can motors with flywheel, Die-cast trucks, pilots and operating couplers, Metal frame and handrails, Traction tires, Detailed molded body and fuel tank, Fan driven smoke unit, Operating headlight, Interior illumination

FT DIESEL

TOOLING!

General Motors' Electro-Motive Division spawned some of the great engines of our time. In its quest for economy and efficiency, EMD developed a series of diesel-powered locomotives to take the place of the nostalgic, yet inefficient steam engines, beginning in the 1930's. Out of its new F-series of engines came the FT, cousin to the much revered F3. Similar in design, yet shorter in stature than its bigger cousin, the FT could be found drumming freight across the country, or pulling a series of beautiful passenger cars.

Lionel is proud to introduce its all-new version of the FT in three popular road names. Sold as a set of A-A units with a separate sale B unit, these road engines will look great hauling any consist you can imagine.

A-A UNITS SOLD AS FOLLOWS:

ALCO C-420 DIESEL LOCOMOTIVES

The American Locomotive Company, whose interest in forward-looking transportation began shortly after the War of 1812, has produced hundreds of thousands of locomotives since its inception. Over one hundred years removed from its humble beginnings, ALCO launched its Century Series of diesel electric engines on January 29, 1963. The four motor Century 420 delivered 2,000 horsepower and utilized a 12-cylinder engine.

Lionel has faithfully reproduced this compact workhorse with its newly tooled C420 locomotive. Scale features include lift rings, vents, handrails and much more. You will be impressed with its sleek curves and smooth design.

ATLANTIC

A Beautiful Locomotive to Grace Your Railroad!

E6 ATLANTIC: THE LINDBERGH SPECIAL

June 11, 1927; Two films of Charles Lindbergh's triumphant return to America were rushed from Washington to a New York City movie house via both train and airplane to assure timely viewing of America's hero. Pennsy's choice for the competition was the Atlantic 4-4-2 number 460. Reaching speeds of 115 m.p.h., the 460, with two cars in tow, made the 216 mile dash in only 175 minutes, clearly beating the airplane. By the way, the film was developed en route.

Lionel is also proud to offer two other E6's in prototypical road names, The Baltimore and Ohio and the Santa Fe.

Features common to both Command and Traditional Versions:

- All new die-cast boiler, frame, tender and tender trucks, Metal tender frame, drawbar, engine side rods, handrails and ladders, Operating headlight, marker light and firebox glow, Traction tires, Puffing smoke unit

Additional features on Command Versions:

- Command controlled, RailSounds, TowerCom, CrewTalk, Electrocoupler on rear of tender, Directional lighting

PENNSY K4

THE PENNSYLVANIA K4-THE OFFICIAL STEAM LOCOMOTIVE OF PENNSYLVANIA

For many years, Pennsy's K4, number 1361, stood majestically adorning Horseshoe Curve outside of Altoona, Pennsylvania. Presently number 1361 is being restored by three partners: The Altoona Railroaders Memorial Museum, The Steamtown National Historic Site and the University of Scranton. Their goal is to restore the 1361 and return it to the Altoona in dependable running condition for Railfest 2000.

This newly tooled die cast locomotive and tender is precisely proportioned to accommodate small to medium layouts and will faithfully track 0-27 curves.

Features common to both Command and Traditional Versions:

- All new die-cast boiler, frame, tender and tender trucks, Metal tender frame, drawbar, engine side rods, handrails and ladders, Operating headlight, marker light and firebox glow, Traction tires, Puffing smoke unit

GP-9 AND SD-40

SANTA FE MERGER SCHEME GP-9

The merger of Santa Fe and Southern Pacific, begun in 1980, brought together two of America's most famous and trusted railroads. With a new company comes many changes, the most visible in this union being updated paint schemes. Lionel's replication of this post-merger Santa Fe GP-9 emulates the classy original. You'll notice the comforting similarity of the old Santa Fe Warbonnet design updated for a modern world. This is sure to be one of the most stunning GP-9s Lionel has ever offered.

Features common for both Command Control and Traditional Versions:

- Pullmor motor, Magne-Traction, Die-cast trucks, pilots and fuel tank, Metal frame and handrails, Detailed molded body, Headlight, Strobe light, Interior illumination, Engineer figure

TRAINMASTER-COMMAND

A Value For The Ages

Ever wanted to give Command Control a try, but were a little hesitant because you thought it would be too difficult, or you would need to buy a lot of different components? Well, this special set is for you. It comes complete with everything you will ever need to run Command Control on your layout.

It starts with the guts of the TrainMaster system, the Command Base and the Cab-1 Remote. The Command Base relays the signals from your remote to your engine and allows you to control up to 99 Command engines. This is the only base you'll ever need for your layout! The Cab-1 allows you to roam around your layout and control things from anywhere in the room. Turn the knob to make your engine speed up or slow down. Hit the whistle button to engage the RailSounds system and be amazed at the life-like sound reverberating from your locomotive's tender. You can even remotely open the Electrocouplers to leave one consist behind and pick up another along the way. In a word, the Command system is FUN - not to mention, extremely easy!

This special set also includes a Command equipped 4-6-4 steam (in New York Central or Santa Fe - it's your choice!) locomotive with smoke and RailSounds, a die-cast tender, special Trainmaster Command boxcar, and one randomly chosen Visitors Center car from the past. All this for a special low introductory price. Once you've experienced how fun and easy TrainMaster is, we're confident you'll agree that it's the only way to run your layout.

Your Eyes!

LIONEL HOBBY SHOP

It's the mid-1950's. You're looking for a train for that special someone for Christmas. Where do you go? To the Lionel Hobby Shop, of course! As soon as you walk through the door, you'll realize that you made the right decision.

In front of you is a room filled with dreams come true. Three operating layouts help you to pick which set you're going to buy. Will you pick steam or diesel? Freight or passenger? Take your time, there's plenty to see.

As you make your way towards the back of the store, you'll notice famous Lionel catalog covers posted throughout. You'll see model airplanes hanging from the ceiling and battleships on the shelves. In the back display case, and on the shelves above the cashier, you'll notice even more Lionel train sets from which to choose. There's the Santa Fe Warbonnet with a beautiful passenger set behind it. There's even a vista dome! It's going to be a hard choice. You might be here awhile.

You can put yourself right in this picture with Lionel's new Hobby Shop accessory. With more detail than any accessory ever made by Lionel, you're sure to spend hours Three operating layouts with trains based on interior and exterior lights, scale figures, on and on! This is one accessory that no Lionel just peering in through the see-through roof to take it all in. famous Lionel products are just the start. Opening doors, historical Lionel artwork, display cases, models - it just goes hobbyist can do without.

FABULOUS ACCESSORIES

Bring Your Layout To Life

HOBO CAMPFIRE

They're as much a tradition in railroad history as steam engines and crossing signals. Sitting by a fire under the starry night in a clearing next to the old train tracks, playing songs on a banjo or harmonica with trusty friends, the gentle hobo has a distinct place in railroad lore. With bandanas tied to sticks, cans of soup lying at their feet and worn but dependable overcoats on their backs, the imagery of the American hobo is rich indeed.

The Lionel Hobo Campfire captures their spirit in intricate detail with richly decorated figures, surroundings and a campfire that actually flickers a red-yellow glow. You'll be amazed at the life-like dishes, cans and soup kettle, as well as the hobo's personal effects. With its convenient size, the Hobo Campfire will fit even the smallest of layouts. Add some railroad history to your collection today!

Features:

- Solid cast pewter figures, trash can, stick and pot, Detailed molded base, Two bright flickering LEDs illuminate fire, Trash can doubles as on/off switch, Base can be mounted from above or below your layout, Perforated tabs allow easy detachment if unneeded.

HELLGATE BRIDGE

The Lionel Hellgate Bridge, famed for its dramatic archway and ornate towers, has been a collector's dream since 1928. Originally produced for Standard Gauge locomotives, the last Hellgate came off the Lionel production line in 1942. Now, fifty-seven years later, you have a unique opportunity to add this impressive accessory to your collection or layout.

Newly improved with O-Gauge locomotives in mind, you can now run two trains through your Hellgate without the need for elevating track ramps. There is also interior illumination in all four towers adding a new dramatic effect. The red, ivory and silver paint scheme, first offered in 1935, is the second of two different schemes originally produced by Lionel. The first was painstakingly replicated and offered in the 1999 Lionel Heritage Catalog.

Features:

- Detailed Tin-plate construction, Nickel-plated brass identification plaques and handrails, Interior illumination, Accommodates two O-Gauge locomotives passing through at one time, or the flexibility to run one O-Gauge track down the center, Original Prewar Red, Ivory and Silver colors

342 CULVERT LOADER

A fan favorite since 1956, the 342 Culvert Loader is as fun and interesting to watch as any accessory ever built. When you pull your culvert gondola next to the building and break the infrared beam, all the action begins. The lift arm moves methodically across the conveyor beam to pick up a waiting culvert. Once the culvert is safely in place, the arm moves back to a position above your culvert gondola and drops it into place, ready to repeat the process until all the culverts have been loaded. Pair this with the 345 Culvert Unloader (sold separately) for continuous loading and unloading operation.

Features:

- Powerful DC can motor, Two versions for conventional transformer operation or Command Control, Sturdy stamped metal base and conveyor bridge, Detailed molded body and components, 7 Nickel plated steel culvert pipes, Interior illumination, Operating strobe lights on conveyor bridge, Infrared sensor provides safe operation preventing pipes to be dropped onto bare track
